

We've Expanded!

Meet our New Laughter Specialists

I'm Corinne Wilkinson. I'm an actor, voiceover artist and children's entertainer! I've predominantly performed in children's theatre over the last few years and I taught Drama to children in local stage schools. I've worked for the Laughter Specialists since January 2023 and I love singing, puppetry and generally making myself look silly. Making children giggle is the best feeling in the world.

My name is Emily Haldane AKA Aunty Celery. I am a global citizen who was born and raised in South Africa, but I have lived and worked in Australia, Cambodia and now the UK! I am a trained performer, facilitator, puppeteer, content creator and theatre maker. My speciality lies in my work with children and my unique way in which I can connect with them. Using the power of theatre, dance, mime and puppetry I have opened up the minds of children around the world in marginalized spaces.

As a multi-disciplinary artist, I enjoy working through lots of different lenses and perspectives to create bespoke work that touches those around me. I have always been a child at heart who loves being silly and making people around me laugh. Most people say that I need to be more serious about life, but all I want to do all day is channel my inner child and run free!

I'm Nick Delvalle. I'm an actor, writer and improviser. I graduated from the prestigious Bristol Old Vic Theatre School in 2009 with a firm grounding in Classical theatre. However, after a few years it dawned on me that playing Hamlet was a lot less fun than being a professional comical character (although, if the RSC want me, I'm happy to take that meeting). I've been with the Laughter Specialists since April, and can't believe I have the perfect job and get in to all kinds of shenanigans. I love singing, falling over and I'm particularly proud of my monkey and elephant impressions.

SAVE THE DATE

We'll be bringing together the wonderful children we work with, their families, hospital staff, teachers, parents, corporate sponsors and local businesses to the event.

It will be a day of fun and laughter, as well as an opportunity to meet our new Laughter Specialists. Keep it free and we will send you further information shortly.
